

FROZEN PASSION: SONAM WANGCHUK'S INGENUOUS ICE STUPAS

In the breathtaking landscapes of Ladakh, cradled by the towering peaks of the Himalayas, a visionary engineer named Sonam Wangchuk has sparked a revolution to combat water scarcity and celebrate sustainable ingenuity. The awe-inspiring 'Ice Stupas' - a marvel inspired by ancient Buddhist monuments.

Ladakh grapples with severe water shortages due to its high-altitude desert environment and diminishing glacial meltwater caused by climate change. Determined to find a solution, Wangchuk pioneered a groundbreaking approach during the winter months. By pumping water from streams and spraying it into the frigid air, he conjured towering ice structures that resemble the revered stupas of Ladakh's heritage.

addressed water shortages but has also empowered local communities to take charge of their resources sustainably.

Sonam Wangchuk's Ice Stupas epitomize the fusion of tradition and innovation - a testament to human creativity in overcoming environmental challenges. They stand tall, echoing the spirit of Ladakh and inspiring a global movement towards sustainable solutions.

A WORD FROM OUR MANAGING PARTNER

India enters the hot period, and I don't refer to elections. Surprisingly, in my last visit to Mumbai, it was uncharacteristically hot as were Pune and Bangalore. Global warming? With such issues now widespread, to discuss "ice stupas" for sustainability is calming. What a simple but ultra innovative idea! When you think out of the box, common sense and ingenuity leads to improvement and higher productivity. It should be the mantra guiding you – how do I improve my team efficiency by 1 or 2%. This constant desire to improve will systemically become a habit, paving way to becoming a sought-after professional.

We had a spate of events, APMM in Kochi our crowning glory. Many of us spoke at various thought leadership events. Addressing a large gathering in Japan was one such grand moment. But it is Lea who takes the cake with a personal picture with President Macron!

This edition is blazing with travels, parties, water park escapades, dinners, and, importantly, our 33rd anniversary celebrations. But listening to 'Dada' and his simple take on life – zen! No wonder he is so endearing a person.

Our leadership team expanded, and all your leaders are talking big and thinking bigger. There is much excitement to scale greater heights. The economy eggs us on, the clients seek more, and Baker Tilly revitalizes us. This should be a path breaking year and I am all charged up.

Let's create magic together. Join the party and give your best.

As I headed to meet her first time, riding in an auto

वो ऑटो की सवारी कुछ खास थी,
दिल में एक अलग सी आवाज थी,
दूर से दिखी एक हुस्न परी थी,
जन्हिं देख मेरी सांसें बढ़ी थी,
पहना दोनों ने काला लिबास था,
उस दिन हवा का रुख बस प्यार था।

When we went to a café for our date.

फिर हम पहुंचें एक खास जगह,
मिली जहां प्यार करने की
एक और वजह,
महफ़िल रंगीन थी, लड़की हसीन थी,
ठंडी हवा थी, और जुल्फें बिखरी थी,
लड़की खामोश थी, आँखें जाम थी,
उस शाम की बात अलग थी,
उनके NAIL PAINTS
की महक अलग थी,
हम थे नए, गाने थे पुराने
बस FEEL वहीं थी।

When I met her and took her into the auto

आंखों में अलग सा ऐतबार था,
पहली दफा जब तकरार था,
फूल देना मेरा पहला आगाज था,
और उसको ठुकराना
उनका अलग अंदाज था,
वो जब जुल्फें संवारने में लगी थी,
उस वक्त मेरी आँखें बस
खुली की खुली थी,
उस खामोशी की महक अलग थी,
और उनके मुस्कराने की
झलक भी अलग थी।

When we were about to leave, and I was going to drop her off at her home

फिर वो पल पड़ने लगे कम,
हम जब बाहर निकले,
सड़के खाली थी और भीड़ कम,
दिल अभी भरा नहीं था,
लेकिन कहीं और बैठने
को मिला नहीं था,
वो दिन हो रहा था खत्म,
लेकिन दिल में लगा था कुछ चलने,
अलविदा कहने की घड़ी थी,
फूल लेकर, बाते करने
की वजह बढ़ी थी,
गले मिल, गए वो अपने घर,
मेरी तो सांसें थम गईं,
और मैं गया ठहर।

The moment you fell head over heels at first sight !

So, there I was, amid an epic debate showdown. Enter Samyuktha- the debate wizard with a knack for making words dance like they were in a disco. Her charm hit me like a Rickroll: unexpected but kind of groovy. My heart was all ready to RSVP to the love party. As we bantered, I noticed her beauty, and let me tell you, it hit me like realizing you've been singing the wrong lyrics of a song for years - a mix of embarrassment and amusement.

I was gearing up for a grand love speech, but then she dropped a bombshell of references - think more cassette tapes than Spotify playlists.

Turns out, she was a bit older, like "I-had-an-iPod" kind of older. My attempts at wooing her felt like using dial-up internet in the world of Fiber optics. We laughed it off, realizing that while love might be timeless, our pop culture timelines were on different streams. In the end, my heart voted for compatibility, and we agreed - maybe next time, I'll stick to debates about which '90s sitcom reigns supreme.

A tale of one of my heartbreaks

उन्हें पाने की चाह थी तबसे, कमाना भी
शुरू नहीं किया था जबसे,
वो आए पर ऐसे आए जीवन में, खुशी तो नहीं
गम ज्यादा साथ ले आए जिंदगी में

While people fall in love with other humans, I fell in love with the idea of owning a sedan when I was 12. I waited for her for 16 long years when I finally bought my most materialistic possession -my car. The day I bought it,

I realized that there was a piece of information that was not disclosed to me beforehand. So, at the time of taking delivery of my first ever self-purchased car, I was in tears because the sales team had lied to me about the car's important details, and now there was no going back. I accepted and moved on, but in the first month of the purchase itself, my childhood crush, my car, has been only giving me surprises by throwing some or other tantrums every weekend. I feel like abandoning it and moving on, but as life is unjust anyway, giving up is not always the solution. We are hoping that things will turn out well eventually between us.

These create business opportunities and new service avenues for risk advisory professionals. Services such as Cyber Security and ESG are growing very rapidly today. We will see emergence of services such as Data Privacy and tech-based solutions growing in future. Coorg Mountains are nature's way of showing its peaks. We arrived in Coorg, the sun was setting, and we were greeted with a sky filled with fiery bursts of orange - a sight that never fails to mesmerize anyone. The place was crowded, but we wanted a peaceful environment, so we set out to find a quieter spot. Luckily, we were gifted with the perfect place to witness the sunset, and it felt like we had the best seats in the house. The next day, we woke up in the darkest hour of the day, eager to explore Mandalpatti. The view from the top was breathtaking, Mandalpatti was like a staircase to heaven, with majestic clouds gathered around the peaks, transporting us to another realm. Coorg had more surprises in store for us, the charming cafes and friendly people. The cafes were a piece of peace, with smiling faces and positive vibes that made us feel right at home. Coorg also had a few trekking spots. The Tadiandamol Trek and the Kotta Betta Trek. We decided to go on an adventure to reach a height of 1700 meters above the ground level. The journey was thrilling, and we went through dry lands, mushy and dense forests, and slanting peaks to get a surreal experience that we will always cherish. This trip was a perfect package filled with happiness, solitude, peace, and cherishable moments that we will always remember. Among the cafes we visited, The Wheel Cafe and the 5th Generation stood out. We forged a friendship with one of the waiters who made us a coffee mocha and shared a coffee tonic as a token of friendship. We spoke for a while about the cafe, the place, and his passion for coffee - a true inspiration.

Cambodia: From Ancient Wonders to Island Paradise

What is better than exploring a new country to end the fiscal year? Cambodia turned out to be a delightful discovery – thanks Ajay!

Straight from office on Friday evening, I headed to the airport, off to Siem Reap. Two flights later, I was indulging in Khmer cuisine's mild delights, a refreshing break from spicy food. But that was just the appetizer. The main course? Waking up the next day at 4am to chase the mesmerizing sunrise at Angkor Wat, the largest religious structure in the world, blending Hinduism and Buddhism, constructed during the 12th century. Exploring the Angkor complex is like a time-travel adventure through the Khmer Empire's glory days.

Craving more thrills, I embarked on a 40-kilometer bike ride amidst Angkor's jungle, discovering secluded temples and soaking in nature's serenity. Picture yourself alone, facing a 1000-year temple, nature reclaiming its space, with only the melody of birdsong as background noise? A true adventurer's dream!

The following two days in Phnom Penh, capital city, were filled with visits to the Royal Palace, killing fields from the Khmer Rouge era, and a peaceful Mekong River cruise at sunset.

The grand finale? Koh Rong Sanloem, a nearly untouched island. Trekking through jungle was an adventure in itself, but reaching the beachfront bungalow was like stepping into heaven. Turquoise waters and lazy days of sun, sea and sand were pure bliss, while kayaking was the perfect farewell: ideal to recharge before returning to overwhelming Delhi.

In conclusion? Cambodia, 200% wholehearted recommended!

Colorful Calm: Holi Bliss in Rishikesh

Amid the constant shuffle between Excel sheets and Outlook, I gathered the courage to embark on a journey to Rishikesh, a place that holds a special corner in my heart. There, beside the serene waters of the Ganges, I find a sense of profound happiness and joy. Choosing to celebrate Holi in Rishikesh, a city brimming with vibrant experiences and soothing ambiance, I set off on March 23rd, 2024. It marked my inaugural solo expedition, as my family was due to join me the following day. During my journey, I had the pleasure of engaging with peers from diverse backgrounds, their varied perspectives enriched my journey with invaluable knowledge and experiences.

Arriving at my Rishikesh abode at 11 PM, the late hour precluded any immediate exploration. The following day, I eagerly ventured out to explore the city's revered ghats. Triveni Ghat, a personal favorite, greeted me with its serene aura, the Ganga Aarti, and Parmarth Niketan remains an experience I wholeheartedly recommend to all.

Subsequently, Lakshman Jhula, Ram Jhula and Janki Setu where the festivities of Holi were in full swing. Amidst the vibrant colors, I whiled away the evening beside the Ganges at Lakshman Jhula. As Holi dawned, my cousins and I made our way to the peaceful enclave of Vashishth Guffa, Tehri Village and Chilla where we celebrated amidst the serene beauty of the Ganges. It was, without a doubt, the most enchanting Holi of my life. And thus, with cherished memories and a heart overflowing with contentment, I concluded my unforgettable journey to Rishikesh on March 26th.

Soul Searching on Wheels

For many, travel is merely about checking off destinations or escaping the urban grind. But for me, it represents a deeper journey. It's about peeling back cultural layers and discovering new facets of myself. This year's family getaway wasn't just a trip down memory lane; it was a spiritual odyssey.

We set out from Delhi, enveloped in the chilly fog. As we made our way to Karauli, Rajasthan, we shared laughs, marveled at the scenery, and endured the bumps of the road like seasoned travelers. Swapping screens for sprawling landscapes, the endless fields and farms were a stark contrast to the cityscape I was accustomed to.

A day in the village was like a breath of fresh air. From relishing local delicacies to wandering through picturesque vistas, it was a gentle reminder of life's simple joys. And then, the temple visit - it was a spiritual awakening. The rhythmic drumbeats and soul-stirring chants filled me with a sense of peace and reverence.

Looking back, this journey wasn't just about escaping reality; it was about embracing simplicity and seeking deeper meaning. It was a rollercoaster of emotions, but oh, what a ride it was.

As the sun began to peek over the horizon, casting its golden rays across the vast expanse of the Indian Ocean, we found ourselves ready to embark on an unforgettable journey to the Maldives. The anticipation bubbled within me as I watched the crystal-clear waters glisten under the morning light, promising adventures beyond imagination. Our kids were beyond excited to get there.

Our journey began with a thrilling speedboat ride from the capital city of Male to our resort in Huduran Fushi Island. With the wind whipping through my hair and the salty spray of the ocean on my face, I couldn't help but feel a rush of excitement coursing through my veins. The Maldives, with its scattering of coral islands adorned with swaying palm trees and surrounded by turquoise waters, truly felt like paradise on Earth.

As we approached our island destination, I was greeted by the sight of powdery white sand beaches fringed by vibrant coral reefs. The resort staff welcomed us with warm smiles and refreshing coconut drinks, instantly making us feel at home in this tropical haven.

Our accommodation for the duration of our stay was a luxurious Garden Villa nestled amidst lush tropical greenery. The villa exuded an air of tranquility and seclusion, with its spacious interiors and private outdoor terrace overlooking a verdant garden. Wandering barefoot along the sandy pathways, I felt a sense of serenity wash over me, far removed from the hustle and bustle of everyday life.

But our Maldives experience was not just confined to land. We were eager to immerse ourselves in the mesmerizing underwater world that the Maldives is renowned for. Our next accommodation awaited us in an Ocean Villa perched atop stilts above the azure waters of the Indian Ocean. Stepping into our villa, I was greeted by panoramic views of the vast ocean stretching out into the horizon. The glass floor panels offered glimpses of colorful marine life swimming gracefully beneath us, adding an extra dimension of wonder to our stay.

One of the highlights of our Maldives adventure was the unforgettable shark view dinner experience. As dusk descended upon the island, we made our way to a secluded dining platform jutting out into the ocean. The gentle lapping of the waves and the soft glow of lanterns created a magical ambiance as we savored delectable seafood delicacies while observing reef sharks gliding effortlessly through the water below us. It was a surreal and awe-inspiring moment, witnessing these magnificent creatures in their natural habitat, and it left an indelible mark on our memories.

For anyone travelling to another part of the world, excitement heightens when random people talk to you in your mother tongue! Yeah seriously.. the bartender at the Tikki Bar was a Keralite and we met many more who came to Maldives for work many years ago.

As I reflect on our journey through the Maldives, I am filled with gratitude for the opportunity to witness such breathtaking beauty and to create unforgettable moments that will stay with me forever. From the exhilarating speedboat ride to the serene moments spent gazing out at the endless expanse of ocean, the Maldives truly captured my heart and soul, leaving me longing to return to its paradise shores once again.
